The RAVI collection, which was inspired by the fashionable interior concrete motifs, is a perfect option for those who follow the latest trends in interior design and want to implement them in their apartments.

Three tiles available in three shades of grey — from a very light to dark graphite — let create a modern and minimalist interior.

Thanks to high technical parameters, the RAVI tiles can be used even in those parts of the house which are exposed to heavy traffic and dirt, such as an entry hall or a living room.

DAGIS

The three tiles which comprise the DAGIS collection are a “warmed up” variation of the architectural concrete design theme.

Warm shades of beiges and browns in combination with a raw stone structure create an original composition, which adds a friendly tone to modern, minimalist interiors.

The DAGIS tiles are frost resistant thus they can be successfully used in such places as terraces or balconies.

They can also be implemented in any interior space, from living rooms to kitchens and bathrooms.

Among all the presented collections, LANDO is the most varied in terms of colours.

From bright, warm beige through light grey to deep, intense graphite — such colour palette allows you to design very interesting interiors of diverse ambiances.

The tile pattern captures the authentic theme of an industrial concrete surface, which is extremely popular in today's interior design trends.

The LANDO tiles have great technical parameters and can be used in many different interiors and on various outdoor spaces.
